4 Contributions From Third-Party Bank Accounts (Complete if applicable.)

The following information must be provided if a third-party (i.e., a person other than you as the Account Owner) wishes to make one or more contributions to the Account by authorizing the Plan to directly withdraw amounts from his or her bank account. If the third-party previously authorized such withdrawals from his or her bank account, this section may also be used to change the third-party's personal information, bank information, and/or withdrawal instructions. All of the information requested in this section must be provided, including the third-party's signature and a notarization.

The third-party may authorize the Plan to debit his or her bank account as a one-time electronic funds transfer or periodically through an Automatic Contribution Plan. The third-party may cancel future withdrawals from his or her bank account at any time by contacting the Plan Manager.

The third-party will not retain any rights with respect to amounts contributed to the Account. The Account Owner becomes the legal owner of any amounts contributed to the Account by the third-party. The contribution(s) will be allocated in accordance with the Account Owner's standing Allocation Instructions. The Plan will not permit withdrawals from the Account to be deposited into the third-party's bank account.

Quarterly Account statements and confirmation statements are sent only to the Plan Account Owner unless a completed Authorization to receive Plan Information form has been received by the Plan with instructions to send Account statements or confirmation statements to a third party. Contributors should retain and review bank account statements regarding contributions made to the Plan.
